

As Seen In

Long Island
BusinessNEWS

Aug. 31- Sept. 6, 2007

N O T - F O R - P R O F I T S

Firm shows a little TLC with neonatal donation

Garden City-based Intelligent Office will donate 25 percent of the revenue it generates in September with its on-demand offices to the Tender Loving Care Foundation.

The Tender Loving Care Foundation supports the neonatal intensive care units within the North Shore-Long Island Jewish Health System. The fundraiser is part of Intelligent Office's "Back-to-Business Month" program, which runs through September.

"This idea came from our staff," Roger Kahn, owner of the Intelligent Office in Garden City, said in a release. "We had a tough time choosing among all of the local charities until Jeanine Castagna, a longtime client, came in the office one day. Our receptionist mentioned Jeanine and her husband, Ed, were heavily involved in the Tender Loving Care Foundation. I immediately knew that TLC was going to be our beneficiary."

Intelligent Office rents out office space and other professional services to small businesses on an as-needed basis.

For more information on the Tender Loving Care Foundation, visit www.tenderlc.com.